APPENDIX F

VEHICLE INSURANCE CERTIFICATION

To protect the federal interest and the local agency interest in vehicle(s) funded by the Federal Transit Administration, agencies must also insure vehicle(s) for accidental liability and general collision. Failure to maintain adequate insurance coverage will result in additional cost by your agency to cover the federal interest of the vehicle(s) should an accident occur.

If agency is self-insured, please sign this document and provide a copy of the certificate of self-insurance issued by the Missouri Department of Revenue.

By signature of this certification you are verifying the following insurance requirements have or will be met:

- General collision insurance protection.
- Minimum coverage required by the State of Missouri:
 - Under Missouri law, vehicle owners must have auto insurance that provides, at a minimum, the following coverage's on any vehicle in operation in the state:
 - $25,000 per person for bodily injuries suffered in an accident
 - $50,000 per accident for bodily injuries, when more than one person is hurt, and
 - $10,000 per accident for property damage.
 - Bodily injury coverage pays for injuries caused by an accident in which the driver of the covered vehicle was at fault, while property damage pays for any resulting damage to real or personal property. This kind of liability coverage does not pay for damage to the policy holder's own vehicle. You can purchase coverage for repair or replacement of your vehicle if it is damaged in an accident that you caused (this is called collision coverage), or if it is damaged by weather, an animal, or some other cause (this is called comprehensive coverage), but those are not required in Missouri.
