SURVEY DEADLINES:

Deadline for other Stakeholders & General
Public to submit input is Jan. 31.

Intercity Bus Service is defined as “Regularly scheduled bus service for the general public that operates with stops in rural areas over fixed routes connecting two or more urbanized areas not in close proximity, has the capacity for transporting baggage carried by passengers, and makes meaningful connections with scheduled intercity bus service to more distant points, if such service is available.”

Missouri’s urban public transit agencies include Kansas City Area Transportation Authority (KCATA) in Kansas City, Metro Transit in St. Louis, City Utilities Transit in Springfield, GoCOMO in Columbia and JEFFTRAN in Jefferson City. Other cities that offer urban transit services include Joplin, St. Joseph, Carthage, Clinton, Excelsior Springs, Lamar, Nevada, New Madrid and West Plains. Additionally, there are numerous rural public transit agencies in Missouri. Click to view the map of locations for rural agencies.

MoDOT will hold an online public meeting in January to discuss intercity bus service in Missouri with MoDOT representatives. Meeting details will be released at a later date.

Public Feedback Sought

If you or someone you know utilizes public transportation services such as OATS, Greyhound or Jefferson Lines, your input is needed. MoDOT is conducting a Statewide Intercity Bus (ICB) Needs Assessment to help determine the level of demand and unmet need for bus service in Missouri. Intercity bus service should not be confused with public transit service, which generally involves shorter, more local trips. Feedback is needed from organizational stakeholders as well as the public. This brief, online survey should take approximately 10 minutes to complete.

The survey for stakeholders and the general public is available here. This survey closes Jan. 31, 2026.

MoDOT Intercity Bus Study & Survey

MoDOT is conducting a Statewide Intercity Bus Needs Assessment to help determine the level of need and current utilization of intercity bus (ICB) service in Missouri (defined at the end of this article). Part of this process involves a brief online survey to allow organizational stakeholders and the general public to identify user demands and unmet needs in the provision of ICB services. Your input and survey participation are integral to determining the need and demand for ICB service throughout Missouri.

If you are a member of an organization, please distribute this survey to your clients, community or anyone else you believe may have an interest in this process. Your participation is requested as well.

ICB service involves long, regularly scheduled trips connecting multiple larger cities, often with stops in comparatively rural towns and areas. Examples of ICB providers in Missouri include Greyhound Lines, Jefferson Lines, OATS and Southeast Missouri Transportation Service (SMTS). Intercity bus service should not be confused with public transit service, the latter of which generally involves shorter, more local trips.

Note to Urban Transit Providers: While only ICB and rural transit providers are eligible for FTA 5311(f) funding, your perspective is still critical in evaluating current intercity bus service demand and unmet needs throughout Missouri.

Intercity Bus Service is defined as "Regularly scheduled bus service for the general public that operates with stops in rural areas over fixed routes connecting two or more urbanized areas not in close proximity, has the capacity for transporting baggage carried by passengers, and makes meaningful connections with scheduled intercity bus service to more distant points, if such service is available."

Note the following:

- Commuter service providing daily work trips within a local commuting area is not Intercity Bus Service.
- Service operated infrequently between limited points in one community and limited points in another community may qualify as Intercity Bus Service.
- Use of coach buses is not required to qualify as Intercity Bus Service, nor is there any other size requirement for vehicles.
- Rural transit agencies are not excluded from providing Intercity Bus Service.

Feeder Service coordinates rural connections between small transit operations and intercity bus carriers. Feeder Service must make "meaningful connections with scheduled intercity bus service to more distance points." A "meaningful connection" is a connection directly at the boarding location of an intercity bus trip within a close timeframe of the scheduled departure. It can be fixed-route or demand-response service.

Stakeholder and General Public Survey, Private Citizen Branch

2025-26 MoDOT Intercity Bus Survey for Intercity Bus Stakeholders and the General Public

The Missouri Department of Transportation is issuing this survey to aid in the development of a Statewide Intercity Bus Needs Assessment.

Intercity bus service involves long, regularly-scheduled trips connecting multiple larger cities, often with stops in comparatively rural towns and areas. Examples of intercity bus providers in Missouri include Greyhound Lines, Jefferson Lines, OATS, and SMTS. More detailed information on Federal definitions and regulations regarding intercity bus service can be found in Section IX of this link: <https://www.transit.dot.gov/sites/fta.dot.gov/files/2024-10/C9040.1H-Circular-11-01-2024.pdf>

Intercity bus service should not be confused with public transit service, the latter of which generally involves shorter, more local trips. Missouri's urban public transit agencies include Kansas City Area Transportation Authority (KCATA) in Kansas City, Metro Transit in St. Louis, City Utilities Transit in Springfield, GoCOMO in Columbia, and JEFFTRAN in Jefferson City. Other cities that offer urban transit services include Joplin, St. Joseph, Carthage, Clinton, Excelsior Springs, Lamar, Nevada, New Madrid, and West Plains. Additionally, there are numerous rural public transit agencies in Missouri; a map of these rural agencies can be found here: <https://www.modot.org/missouri-rural-transit-map>

The survey should take users approximately 10 minutes to complete. Your answers to the questions below will inform MoDOT of existing intercity bus service demand and unmet need in Missouri as well as support recommendations for allocating federal funds for intercity bus service in the future. If you have any questions about this survey or the Statewide Intercity Bus Needs Assessment, please contact MoDOTIntercityBusStudy@wsp.com.

When you submit this form, it will not automatically collect your details like name and email address unless you provide it yourself.

Missouri Department of Transportation Intercity Bus Needs Assessment Provider Consultation Meeting

February 9, 2026

What is Intercity Bus?

Federal Definition:

Regularly scheduled bus service for the general public that operates with stops in rural areas over fixed routes connecting two or more urbanized areas not in close proximity, has the capacity for transporting baggage carried by passengers, and makes meaningful connections with scheduled intercity bus service to more distant points, if such service is available.

Plain Speak Definition

Long, regularly-scheduled trips connecting multiple larger cities, often with stops in comparatively rural towns and areas, where the buses have space for your luggage

Agenda

- 1) Intercity Bus (ICB) Assessment Process
- 2) Available annual funding for intercity bus
- 3) Current ICB service in Missouri
- 4) Survey key takeaways
- 5) Discussion

Intercity Bus Vs. Local Public Transit

Intercity Bus

- Longer, non-local trips
- Trips often cross state lines
- Larger vehicles with space for bags, typically buses

NOTE: These are typical characteristics of Intercity Bus and Local Public Transit service, which may vary in individual cases.

Local Public Transit

- Comparatively shorter and local trips
- Smaller vehicles, including smaller buses and vans

Intercity Bus Needs Assessment Background

Why do a Needs Assessment?

- The Federal Transit Administration (FTA) requires MoDOT to do so as a condition of using intercity bus funding.
- More importantly, MoDOT receives considerable funding for intercity bus service and needs to understand the best way to use it.

What do we want to accomplish?

- To understand where in Missouri there are needs for intercity bus service and what the nature of those needs are
- To understand the best way Missouri can meet those needs

Annual Formula Grant Programs

5307 (or Urban)

- For public transit in Urban Areas with a population of 50,000 or more
- For trips within Urban Areas

5311 (or Rural)

- For public transit Rural Areas with a population of 50,000 or less
- For trips that either start or end in a Rural Area
- Includes 5311(f) funding, which may be used to fund capital, operating, or marketing activities associated with intercity bus service

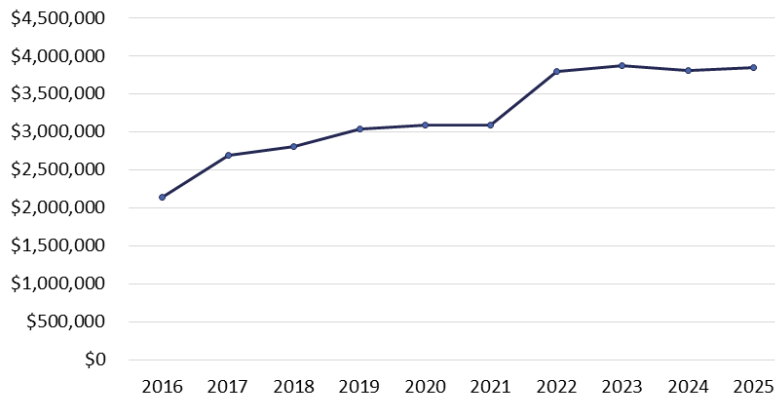

Missouri Annual 5311 Funding History*

*excludes one-time federal funding sources including CARES ($61M), ARP ($9M), and ARP ICB ($3M)

Missouri Annual 5311(f) Funding History*

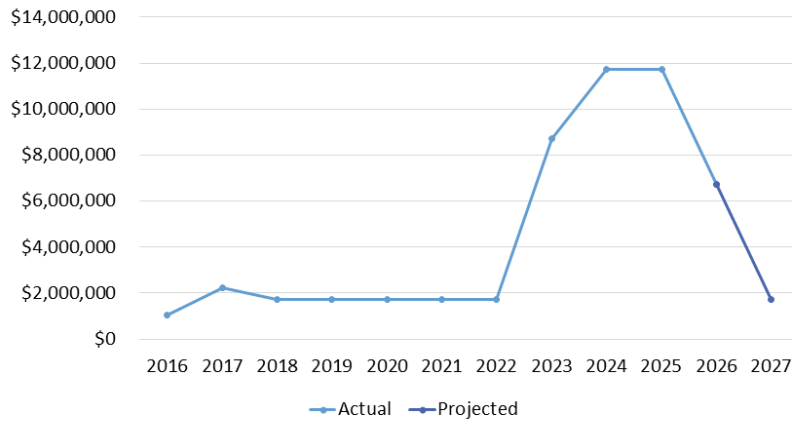

*excludes one-time federal funding sources including CARES ($9M for ICB) and ARP ICB ($3M)

- Evaluation of Potential and Existing ICB Services
- Evaluation of Models for State ICB Programs
- Final Report in August 2026

ICB in Missouri

Questions We Want to Answer

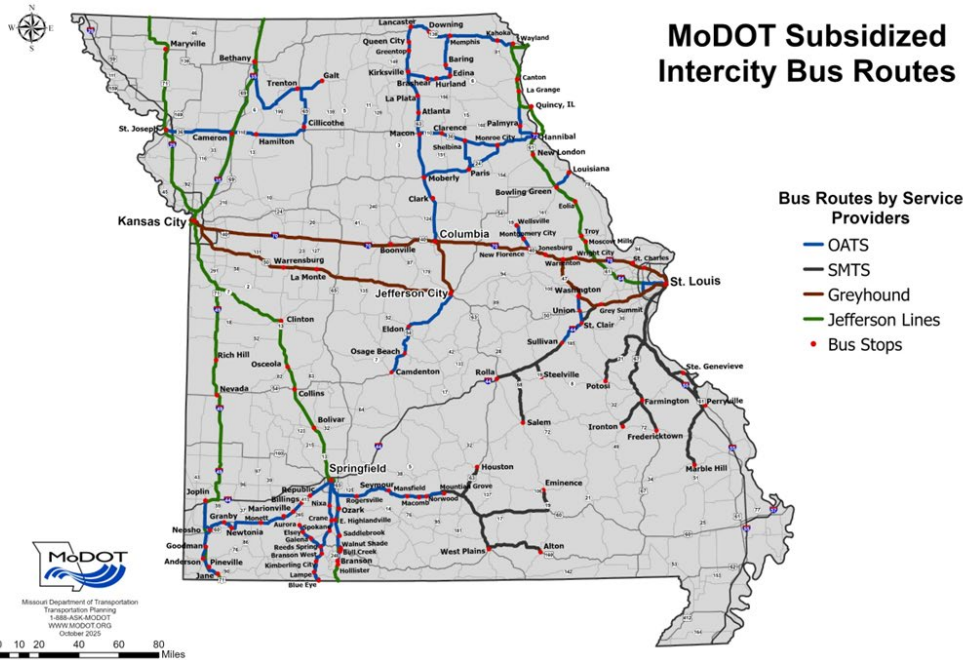

- What areas of Missouri need intercity bus service that do not currently have it?
- Which intercity bus services need to be improved, and which specific aspects?
- For what reason(s) do people use or not use intercity bus service?
- How well do people feel they are being served by their rural public transit agencies?
- What needs or gaps exist regarding rural public transit agencies?
- How should the State manage its intercity bus program in the future?

Stakeholder Survey

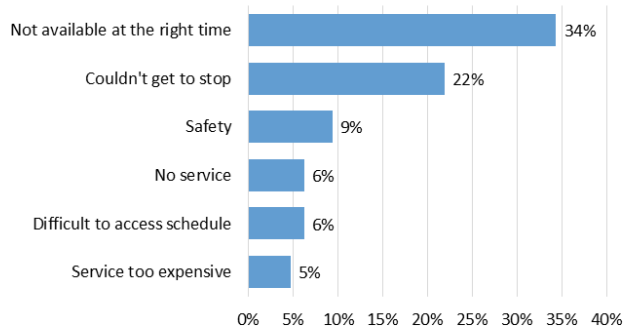

Stakeholder Survey

- Link: <https://forms.office.com/e/SMcsRBbSEz>

Key Stakeholder Survey Takeaways

Stop location and stop accessibility are top of mind for customers.

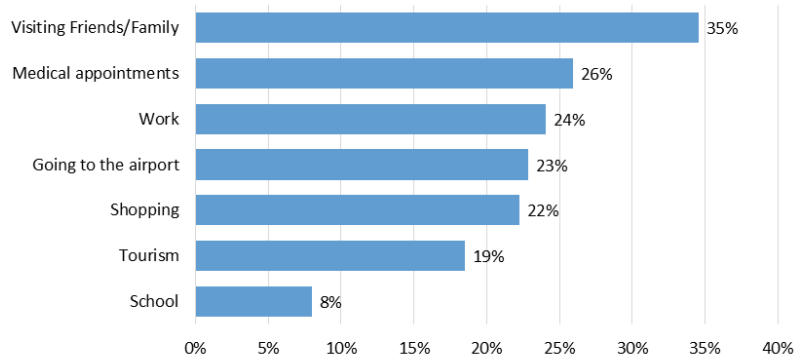

Ranking of ICB Improvements:

1. More Frequent Service
2. New Routes
3. Improved Public Transit Access
4. Lower Costs
5. Accessibility of Stop Locations
6. Quality/Cleanliness of Buses
7. Improved Safety and Security

Key Stakeholder Survey Takeaways

When asked for what purposes people use ICB, visiting friends/family and medical appointments rose to the top.

Key Stakeholder Survey Takeaways

Q: What other improvements would entice you to use intercity bus?

- “Regular schedules”
- “Some way to get between Kansas City and St. Louis besides driving...the frequent service outages on Amtrak render it unreliable.”
- “More affordable”
- “More schedules to Columbia for medical trips”
- “More destinations served”

Q: What additional comments do you have regarding intercity bus services in Missouri?

- “This has been essential and a cost effective way to help several individuals get to family/friends and/or home who are stuck in the community without transportation.”
- “We need more options for our community members as securing transportation is one of the biggest barriers when it comes to accessing care, the community, employment, etc.”
- “There are so many state workers that live outside of Jefferson City that it seems like a bus service could be very useful.”
- “This kind of service will transform the lives of so many people in our community and throughout the Southeast Missouri.”

Key Provider Survey Takeaways

- Most transit providers do not coordinate with ICB providers, as ICB service does not currently exist in their area.
- Most transit providers do not provide service that would qualify as ICB.
- Some transit providers would be open to providing ICB service if there was more funding to do so, but others see it as infeasible.
- Many transit providers noted the rural nature of where they provide service as the biggest challenge to providing service.

Provider Survey, Intercity Bus Provider Branch

2025-26 MoDOT Intercity Bus Survey for Intercity Bus Providers and Public Transit Providers

This survey is designed by the Missouri Department of Transportation (MoDOT) to aid in the development of a Statewide Intercity Bus Needs Assessment. The purpose of this survey is to provide an opportunity for Intercity Bus (ICB) operators and rural transit providers to identify user demand, unmet intercity bus service needs, and strategies for meeting those needs. More detailed information on Federal definitions and regulations regarding intercity bus service can be found in Section IX of this link: <https://www.transit.dot.gov/sites/fta.dot.gov/files/2024-10/C9040.1H-Circular-11-01-2024.pdf>

Your responses will:

- 1) inform MoDOT's assessment of existing ICB service in Missouri
- 2) provide the groundwork for MoDOT, ICB operators, and rural transit providers to discuss proposals for meeting identified needs, and
- 3) support the recommendation for best utilizing FTA 5311(f) Intercity Bus Program funding for public transportation in Missouri.

The consultation and assessment process will solicit input and will also notify providers of the availability of annual funds for the ICB program.

Several of these questions pertain to ridership information, which your organization may have in the form of rider counts, surveys, reports, or other quantitative data. Please send any available data, as well as any questions regarding this survey and/or the Statewide Intercity Bus Needs Assessment to MoDOTIntercityBusStudy@wsp.com.

When you submit this form, it will not automatically collect your details like name and email address unless you provide it yourself.

2025-26 MoDOT Intercity Bus Survey for Intercity Bus Providers and Public Transit Providers

Rural Transit Providers

MoDOT is examining the role of rural transit agencies in providing Intercity Bus Service and Feeder Services as a supplement to service provided by traditional intercity bus operators. In doing so, MoDOT would like to hear about existing or desired services that may qualify as Intercity Bus Service or feeder service under Section 5311. Definitions of Intercity Bus Service and Feeder Service will be provided. Please keep these definitions in mind as you proceed.

Intercity Bus Service

The Section 5311 Circular defines Intercity Bus Service as the following: "Regularly scheduled bus service for the general public that operates with stops in rural areas over fixed routes connecting two or more urbanized areas not in close proximity, has the capacity for transporting baggage carried by passengers, and makes meaningful connections with scheduled intercity bus service to more distant points, if such service is available."

The Section 5311 Circular also notes the following:

- Commuter service providing daily work trips within a local commuting area is not Intercity Bus Service.
- Service operated infrequently between limited points in one community and limited points in another community may qualify as Intercity Bus Service.
- Use of coach buses is not required to qualify as Intercity Bus Service, nor is there any other size requirement for vehicles.
- Rural transit agencies are not excluded from providing Intercity Bus Service.

Provider Consultation Outreach Meeting Presentation

Missouri Department of Transportation Intercity Bus Needs Assessment Provider Consultation Meeting

January 22, 2026

Project Team Introductions

MoDOT

- Christy Evers, Administrator of Transit
- Bryan Heckman, Senior Multimodal Operations Specialist
- Breeze McCracken, Multimodal Operations Specialist

WSP

- Paul Nelson, Project Manager
- Matthew Long, Deputy Project Manager
- Derrice Ezzell, Transit Planner
- Christian Snelgrove, Transit Planner
- Charlie Stanfield, Transit Planner

What is Intercity Bus?

Federal Definition:

Regularly scheduled bus service for the general public that operates with stops in rural areas over fixed routes connecting two or more urbanized areas not in close proximity, has the capacity for transporting baggage carried by passengers, and makes meaningful connections with scheduled intercity bus service to more distant points, if such service is available.

Agenda

- 1) Intercity Bus (ICB) Assessment Process
- 2) Available annual funding for intercity bus
- 3) Current ICB service in Missouri
- 4) Survey key takeaways
- 5) Discussion

Intercity Bus Needs Assessment Background

MoDOT is required to complete an assessment of intercity bus needs throughout the state in accordance with 49 USC 5311

FTA Circular 9040.1H, Section IX

“...to carry out a program to develop and support intercity bus transportation,” unless the governor certifies that “the intercity bus service needs of the State are being met adequately.”

- The assessment may be made relative to other rural needs
- ICB programs support:
 - “... the connection between rural areas and the larger regional or national system of intercity bus service.
 - “... services to meet the intercity travel needs of residents in rural areas.”
 - “...the infrastructure of the intercity bus network through planning and marketing assistance and capital investment in facilities.”

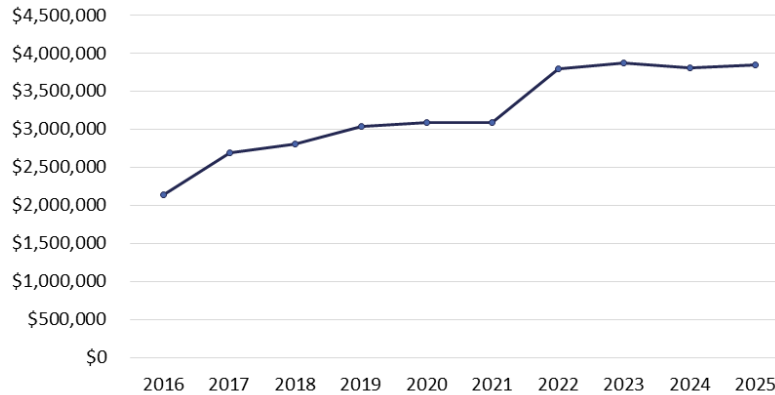

Purpose of Consultation Process

- Inform the state’s rural planning process, encourage participation in that process
- Opportunity to submit comments identifying unmet needs
- Opportunity to discuss proposals for meeting unmet needs
- Include ICB providers in scheduled state agency and transit meetings
- Notify providers of state funding availability
- Inform of local coordinated public transit-human services transportation plans

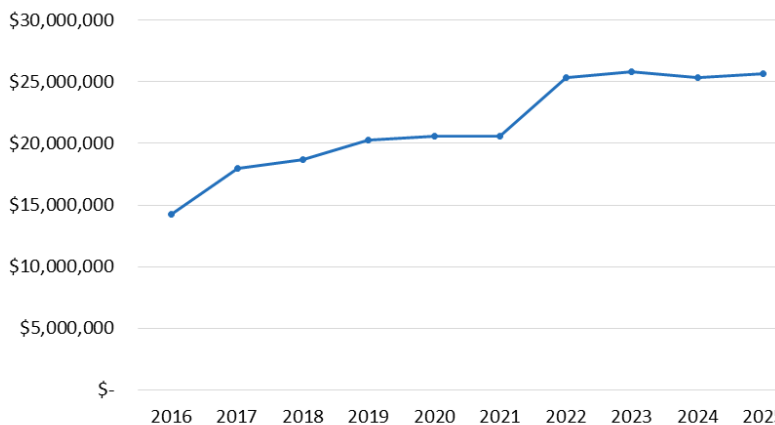

Missouri Annual 5311(f) Funding History*

*excludes one-time federal funding sources including CARES ($9M for ICB) and ARP ICB ($3M)

Missouri Annual 5311 Funding History*

Questions We Want to Answer Intercity Bus Providers

- What challenges are you facing in providing intercity service in Missouri?
- To what extent are you coordinating with public transit agencies in Missouri?
- Have you faced facilities access challenges in recent years?
- Are there stops that are at risk of being discontinued in Missouri?
- What stops have been discontinued in Missouri in recent years? If so, why?

ICB Assessment Process

Current Efforts

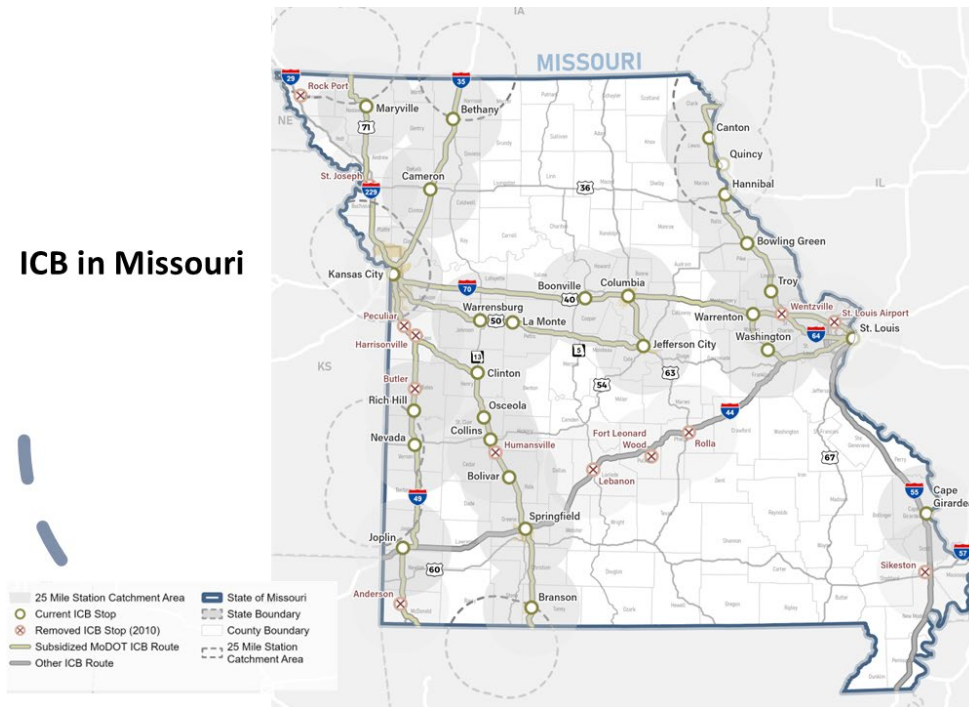

- Data Collection and Analysis
- Stakeholder Engagement Activities:
 - Stakeholder/Public Survey – closes January 31
 - ICB and Transit Provider Survey – closes February 6
 - Provider Consultation Meeting – January 22 at 12pm
 - Public/Stakeholder Meeting – February 9 at 11am
- Interviews with Other DOTs

Future Efforts

- Analysis of Stakeholder Engagement
- Evaluation of Potential and Existing ICB Services
- Evaluation of Models for State ICB Programs
- Final Report in August 2026

ICB in Missouri

Questions We Want to Answer Public Transit Providers

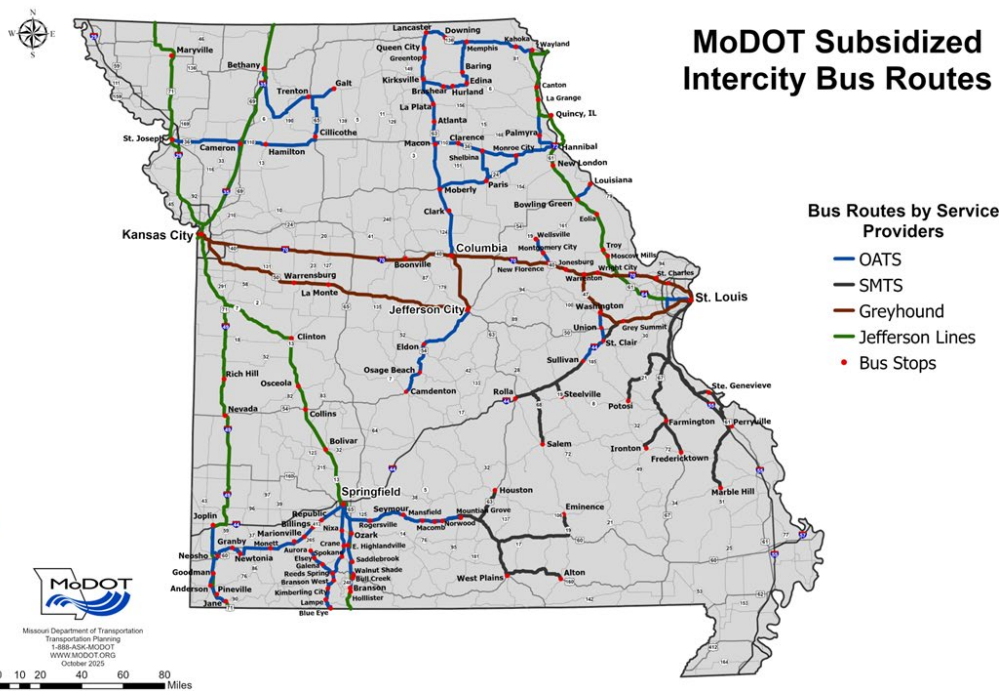

- What challenges is your agency facing in providing connections to ICB service?
- To what extent is there a need for intercity bus with your customers? Where and when is service most needed?
- To what extent is your agency coordinating with intercity bus providers?
- Would your agency allow your transit center or other facility to be used as an intercity bus stop? Why or why not?
- What changes could Missouri make to more effectively manage its intercity bus program in the future?

Provider Survey

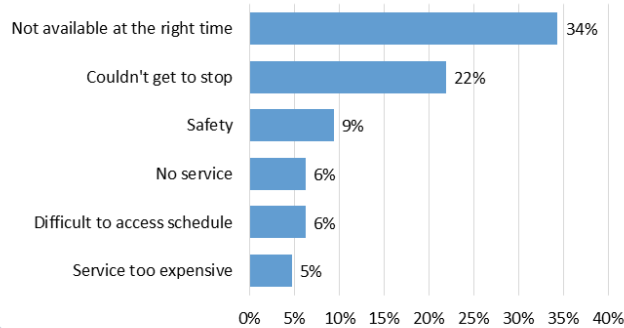

Provider Survey

- For ICB providers and public transit providers
- Link: <https://forms.office.com/e/32Xwf9jLb9>

Key Stakeholder Survey Takeaways

Stop location and stop accessibility are top of mind for customers.

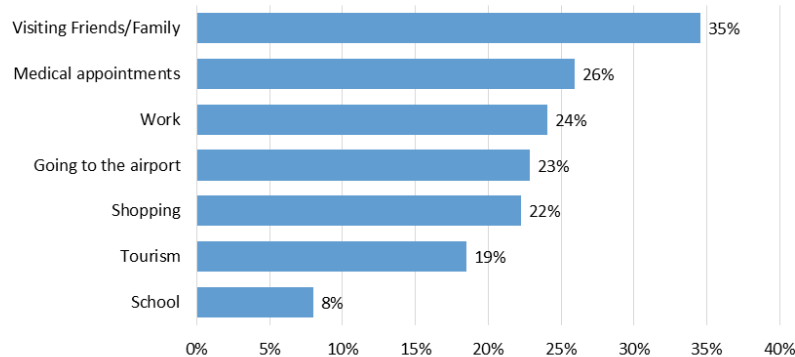

Ranking of ICB Improvements:

1. More Frequent Service
2. New Routes
3. Improved Public Transit Access
4. Lower Costs
5. Accessibility of Stop Locations
6. Quality/Cleanliness of Buses
7. Improved Safety and Security

Key Stakeholder Survey Takeaways

When asked for what purposes people use ICB, visiting friends/family and medical appointments rose to the top.

Key Provider Survey Takeaways

- Most transit providers do not coordinate with ICB providers, as ICB service does not currently exist in their area.
- Most transit providers do not provide service that would qualify as ICB.
- Some transit providers would be open to providing ICB service if there was more funding to do so, but others see it as infeasible.
- Many transit providers noted the rural nature of where they provide service as the biggest challenge to providing service.

Key Stakeholder Survey Takeaways

Q: What other improvements would entice you to use intercity bus?

- "Regular schedules"
- "Some way to get between Kansas City and St. Louis besides driving...the frequent service outages on Amtrak render it unreliable."
- "More affordable"
- "More schedules to Columbia for medical trips"
- "More destinations served"

Q: What additional comments do you have regarding intercity bus services in Missouri?

- "This has been essential and a cost effective way to help several individuals get to family/friends and/or home who are stuck in the community without transportation."
- "We need more options for our community members as securing transportation is one of the biggest barriers when it comes to accessing care, the community, employment, etc."
- "There are so many state workers that live outside of Jefferson City that it seems like a bus service could be very useful."
- "This kind of service will transform the lives of so many people in our community and throughout the Southeast Missouri."

Thank You for Your Participation
