Work Zone Safety for Teen Drivers

Description and Benefit

Work Zone Safe for Teen Drivers is a collaborative innovation born from MoDOT's Management Development Institute capstone project to reduce crashes in work zones by educating young drivers. After research and partnership with an Oklahoma-based company, the team launched workzonesafe.com, offering a free 30-minute online course that teaches work zone awareness. Teens completing the course can earn insurance discounts and qualify for scholarships, promoting safety and incentivizing participation. The long-term goal is to make this training a legislative requirement in Missouri, following five other states that have already adopted similar laws. This initiative aims to build safer driving habits early and protect both motorists and roadway workers.
